Hi everyone,

I hope you are doing well.

Please find attached the presentation detailing the YouTube sponsorship packages for the World Cup, including cost breakdowns for Argentina and Brazil.

Important Note: While I am sharing these opportunities as requested, my preliminary assessment suggests that there are more efficient investment alternatives currently available. The proposed budgets are quite high for this stage of the year, and with most channel budgets already committed, pursuing these would require a significant reallocation of our annual plan. That said, if we decide to move forward, I have analyzed the options to identify the most viable path for each market.

Strategic AnalysisArgentina — Recommended: Platinum Slot ($260K)

Argentina shows strong market conditions, with 86% football penetration across all demographics and high intent for World Cup content.

- Why Platinum: It offers the best balance between reach and performance. It includes the Masthead for high visibility, plus $170K in "Flex" budget that can be fully optimized for conversion via VVC, Demand Gen, and DV360.
- Why not others: The Gold slot lacks the necessary impressions to compete in such a high-saturation period. While the Diamond slot includes the relevant "Goal-Triggering Ad" format, it requires proprietary API development, which currently adds a level of execution complexity we cannot guarantee.

Brazil — Recommended: Platinum Slot (R$6M as Minimum Viable Investment)

Brazil offers greater scale and upside, with a 35% YoY growth in football-related searches and higher weekly YouTube consumption compared to open TV.

- Why R$6M: At R$0.05 CPV, VVC is highly efficient for performance. However, the R$2M package only reaches 10.7% of the 18+ universe—insufficient for a market saturated with betting operators. The R$6M investment increases reach to 14.4% with sustained frequency, which is the minimum required to generate real impact.

Summary Table

Market	Recommended Tier	Investment
Argentina	Platinum	USD 260,000
Brazil	Platinum	BRL 6,000,000

Key Recommendation

Both markets present a strong case; however, given the significant total budget, I strongly recommend that the "Flex" portion (which represents the majority of the investment in both cases) be 100% performance-oriented from day one. We should reserve the premium formats exclusively for key high-audience moments, such as the opening match, semifinals, and the final.

Following up on the YouTube World Cup sponsorship proposals, could you please confirm if these options have been reviewed with the agency?

Additionally, do we have a confirmed position regarding the strategy for Argentina?

Many thanks!
