OVERVIEW

BUDGET & FTD SUMMARY

Performance is the largest paid channel, representing 28% of total media budget for the period. The allocation is concentrated in the second half due to Copa do Mundo seasonality (Jun/Jul peak) and ramps down from August as the Copa effect fades. FTD targets increase throughout the period as the CPA efficiency improves.

CPA REDUCTION

CURVE

CPA is sports calendar-adjusted: investment concentrates in Jun/Jul (Copa do Mundo, Jun 11–Jul 19) driving higher volume at lower CPA. Aug drops to $160K as budget normalizes post-Copa while FTD momentum persists, producing the sharpest CPA drop of the period. From Sep onward the channel stabilizes efficiently.

Bar length proportional to CPA. Red = above $150 · Amber = $100–$150 · Green = below $100.

METHODOLOGY &

ASSUMPTIONS

CPA CURVE LOGIC

Budget follows the sports calendar: Jun ($330K) and Jul ($310K) peak for Copa do Mundo (Jun 11–Jul 19), then drops sharply in Aug ($160K) as the event ends. FTD momentum from the Copa period keeps Aug CPA at $75.54 despite the budget cut. Sep–Dec stabilize at $73–$80 range.

FTD DISTRIBUTION SOURCE

Monthly FTD targets derived from JP Forecast (Simulator - New). Performance uses the ex-affiliates seasonality index (row 8) applied to the annual total of 19,729 FTDs. August dip reflects post-Copa normalization; Dec peak reflects end-of-year acquisition push.

OPEN ITEMS

CPA targets are projections pending confirmation of Jan–Apr actuals by Diego (current estimate: $2,302,468 consumed). Targets should be revised if the actual consumed differs materially. CR improvement post-Copa (Aug onward) will be quantified when data is available.
